GENERAL INFORMATION

This wine is produced from grapes sourced from pre-phylloxera vineyards in Ribera del Duero, planted on a unique combination of sandstone and alluvial soils complemented by high-altitude limestone plots.

These exceptional conditions allow the vines to express their best qualities with remarkable intensity and character. Following close vineyard monitoring, the grapes are hand-harvested in small 15 kg boxes at optimal ripeness. After selection, the bunches are vatted with their stems and lightly trodden before fermentation, with gentle punch-downs carried out during the process. After 21 days, the wine is transferred to 28 new French oak barrels from different forests, where it matures from October 2020 until August 2022, achieving great aromatic complexity before bottling in February 2023.

TASTING NOTES

Clean and bright, the wine shows a deep cherry-red color with violet hues. The nose is highly complex, initially marked by notes of hay and freshly cut grass from whole-cluster fermentation, intertwined with toffee aromas from oak aging. As it opens in the glass, subtle toasted and caramelized notes emerge, harmoniously blending with ripe fruit. On the palate, it is unctuous, velvety, and flavorful, with an elegant mouthfeel and remarkable persistence. The finish echoes the aromatic richness perceived on the nose, leaving a lasting and refined impression.
