GENERAL INFORMATION

Licores Baines Sloe Liqueur is a traditional Spanish fruit liqueur crafted using sloes macerated in 500-liter oak barrels for at least six months, a method dating back to the brand's founding in 1844. This slow, careful maceration imparts deep, complex flavors and a rich, ruby-red color with violet reflections, reflecting both the quality of the fruit and the heritage of the production process.

TASTING NOTES

On the nose, it shows a well-integrated, balsamic, and fruity aroma. The palate is dense, voluptuous, and round, delivering a long, elegant, and persistent finish. Best served chilled or over ice in a balloon glass, it is perfect for enjoying as a relaxed aperitif or a refined after-dinner drink.
