GENERAL INFORMATION

Often described as the “enfant terrible” of Mas d'en Gil, this distinctive white wine comes from the Coma Alta vineyard, located at the highest point of the Vall de la Coma and facing north-east. Made from 100% White Grenache, the vines were planted in 2000 on llicorelles (various slate soils) with low yields of 20 hl/ha. A third of the wine is aged for six months in 500-litre barrels, followed by approximately 12 months of bottle ageing, resulting in a precise, terroir-driven expression.

TASTING NOTES

Salty, lively and finely structured, the wine offers aromas of forest floor alongside almond and peach blossom. On the palate it is vertical and subtle, with a pronounced mineral character leading to a saline, refreshing finish. Best served at around 12 °C in a Burgundy-style glass, it pairs beautifully with tempura dishes, tuna carpaccio, coca de recapte and cured goat or sheep's cheeses.
